For most people, your daily ritual of taking a shower is exactly that: something you do every single day. But just because you're getting under that hot running water doesn't mean you should be doing the same routine every time. This is especially true of your hair, which doctors say you should stop washing every time you take a shower.

There is one trick to help you use the right word in almost every case: the word RAVEN: R = Remember A = Affect is a V = Verb E = Effect is a N = Noun. Here is another way to remember when to use affect and effect: A is for action (affect); E is for end result (effect). But to fully understand a word's meaning, it helps to see it in action.
