I called Sharp tech support and they said that ARC was only intended for switching HDMI inputs on the HDTV's various HDMI ports. I find that hard to believe because first of all, the HDMI 1.4 spec says nothing about a restriction on the TV tuner and Apps as inputs, but in addition, my two LG HDTVs play apps and the on-board tuner through ARC ...

All of the G1's picture modes provide 2-, 10-, and 22-point White Balance adjustments plus color Fine Tune settings (LG's current name for its color management system). The sets also support an autocalibration feature developed by Calman from Portrait Displays, though all the calibration work for this review was done manually. I used the set's ISF Expert (Dark) mode for my HD/standard dynamic ...

Sony TVs come with several different inputs for HDMI and component devices. Your Sony TV may appear to not turn on if the wrong input is selected on it. The TV is technically on but will show a totally blank screen. You can fix this issue by pressing the "Input" button on your TV or TV remote to switch it to the correct TV input.
